City Marshal Gene Smith has announced a commendable policy for dealing with the acute problem of automobile traffic in Cameron. There is no phase of police work more difficult than that of proper regulation of motor vehicles in their relation to public safety. Accidents have been of minimum occurrence in Cameron. It is both the desire of the Marshal and the thinking citizens that co-operation may be had to bring Our Town into line and to effect sensible compliance with existing ordinances.

Experience has proven that no permanent good can be accomplished in this phase of law enforcement unless vigilance is prolonged. When sufficient time has lapsed with a consistent imposition of such regulations as may be necessary to establish both the reputation of local officers and public sentiment in their favor, it may be expected that the maximum of safeguard will be realized. The automobile has become a serious threat and fatalities have reached an alarming figure in the nation. These problems are our own problems here in Cameron in proportion to population and the desire to keep down traffic accidents.

The most noteworthy reaction among Americans to the news of the automobile accident that brought Queen Astrid's death, after the first expression of shocked pity, was utter astonishment. The comment ran something like this: "Killed! What a tragic thing, coming so soon after King Albert's death. How fast were they going? What, only 50 miles an hour!" "Only" 50 miles an hour. Now if the car had been traveling 65 or 70, apparently, the accident would have been understandable. But 50! How can anything serious happen at this safe speed, well under the modern car's top limit. What could be more certain proof that to Americans in 1935 a speed of 50 miles an hour is a mere snail's pace?

It is true that the average speed of cars on the highway must be close to 50 miles an hour. Many drive habitually at 60 and think it is none too fast. A good share drive at 65 and a few boost the figure to 70 when the road is smooth and straight. Many drivers, it is true, refuse conscientiously to be tempted to drive faster than 50 miles an hour. The fear of a front wheel blow out is constantly with them. It is always a question whether the car can be held in the road if that happens, even if the driver resists the temptation to apply the brake. But others forget when powerful motors are warmed up and the speedometer slides up from 50 to 55 to 60 and even higher.

It takes some sober determination to remember what it means to drive faster than 50 miles an hour. That speed is so great that in the click of a second a distance of 73 feet passes under the wheels of a motor car. If the attention wavers for the fraction of a second, a car can be well off the road and onto the shoulder. And if the driver's hands are slack on the wheel they may grip too late to bring the car back into the road again.

Drivers forget, too, the terrific impact of an object moving at 73 feet a second. It strikes with approximately the same force as if it had been pushed off an 8 story building. That means that in a head on collision it will be demolished. Almost any kind of glancing blow will overturn it. If the accidental death of Queen Astrid serves to remind a few drivers of how fast they are moving even at 50 miles an hour, some good may come of a tragedy that seems

CAMERON SCHOOLS BEGIN TERMS BUT NO LAW TO ENFORCE

ENROLLMENT NEAR RECORD

Cameron Public Schools opened Monday morning for the 1935 fall term with good attendance and the administrative details directed by Superintendent E. A. Perrin promising one of the most successful years in the long history of the school.

The ceremonies incident to the opening were simple and brief. Rev. O. C. Acree of the First Presbyterian church made the opening address. Then a 45 minute band concert under Francis Cox was given. This was followed by a piano duet by Misses Arnette Ryan and Elizabeth Sprott.

Stage Improved

Visitors for the opening as well as students were impressed with the new stage just recently decorated by funds from the Parent Teacher Association and the Junior Class of 1934. A background of gray made effective by curtains of Indian Head gives the stage a greatly improved appearance. The expensive maroon curtain has been rearranged and is drawn and closed with greater ease and with less wear.

Large Enrollment

Approximately 444 students were enrolled in the Yoe High School on Monday it was said by Mr. Perrin and W. C. Weise, principal. Of this number 19 are post graduate students. There will possibly be 15 or 20 more students to register this week.

The Faculty

Four new faculty members of the High School this year are: Mrs. W. T. Hefley, ninth and eleventh grade History; Miss Margaret Bloebaum, ninth and tenth grade English; Miss Mary Sue Hardage, second and third year Home Economics; Miss Dorothy Langdon, first year Home Economics. Other faculty members are: Miss Lucille Dickard, Miss Louise Green, L. C. Wood, Chas Hicks, Miss Elizabeth Lamham, Miss Blanche Hensley, Miss Jolly Blanche Pitts, E. D. Parnell, Mrs. Ann Posey, Miss Ethel Skelton, W. C. Weise, Miss Dottie Young, Miss Lanelle Love, Miss Emma Pearl Clement and Francis Cox.

Ada Henderson School

The Ada Henderson School enrolled 423 students according to Miss Ethel Jenkins, who is acting as principal in the place of Miss Irma Porter, who is recuperating from a recent illness.

The Ada Henderson School has three new faculty members: Miss Mary Belle Batté, Mrs. Kathryn K. Robbins and Raymond P. Bennett. Other teachers of the grammar school are: Mrs. Jim Childers, Miss Katherine Plinn, Miss Alene Miller, Miss Winnie Henderson, Miss Dora Emily Moore, Miss Agnes Dusek, Miss Kathryn Sproull, Mrs. Charlie Nabours, Mrs. Chas. Allday, Miss Ethel Jenkins, Miss Dorothy Schiller, Miss Emma Pearl Clement, Miss Ruth Mantor, Miss Irma Porter.

Marvin Sneed, Jr. Dies In Temple

Marvin Sneed, Jr., son of the late Marvin Sneed, farmer of Calvert, died at Scott and White's Hospital in Temple Wednesday.

Mr. Sneed's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Sneed were reared in Milam county, his grandfather at one time being associated with the Citizens National Bank of Cameron.

Marvin Sneed, his father, died last January in Calvert. According to Dan Tyson, a cousin of Mr. Sneed's, the funeral will be held in Calvert at 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

doubly tragic because there is no need for it.

Let's make Cameron a model town for sober driving, and thus safeguard the lives of others as well as our own. To Marshal Smith we extend our hand and our aid. No matter how difficult the problem, it must be solved in Cameron. Traffic regulations must be enforced if need be.

DOSSEY WILL LEAD BAPTISTS IN REVIVAL

Beginning next Sunday there will be revival services in the First Baptist Church twice daily until September 29th. Rev. C. Y. Dossey, well known State Evangelist, will preach at these services.

This will be his second meeting in this church. On his previous stay with us he captivated the people with his earnestness and ability. Since that day he has been constantly in revival work, to and from the State of Texas, holding meetings in large churches and small churches.

He is vigorous and believes in the Gospel as it is given us in the New Testament, and does not foster cheap and artificial tricks of evangelism of a former period.

R. N. Duckworth, capable Music Director of the First Baptist Church, will lead the music. A good choir will render faithful service, and a warm greeting awaits all who come. Make your plans to attend whenever you can.

WHAT PRICE UTILITIES?

The City Government has requested a loan of Three Hundred Thousand Dollars from the Federal Government to construct Light and Water Utility plants in Cameron. If need for these advantages were the compelling factor in this venture, the action of the Council might well be applauded. Since the reverse is apparent, amazement constitutes the sole reaction in the minds of many who have assessed the values of the suggestion, and counted the cost.

The Herald finds in this circumstance what it believes to be a rare opportunity and since both opinion and suggestion are still privileges, we call the attention of the citizenship to certain facts incident to the question at hand.

The method of financing this loan is one of those examples of boot strap economics that has characterized the administration of the Washington government in recent months. More than half the amount asked for is to be financed by Revenue Bearing Bonds, the remainder to be an outright grant from the government treasury. This bill will be presented to the tax payers at a later date in the form of some new levy when the Federal Government faces the inevitable pay day.

Let no citizen be mistaken. Bonds or securities authorized by vote or otherwise, constitute a debt, security for which is involved the value of every dollar in property owned by the people of Cameron. If, in the operation of these utilities, the revenues should fall below the requirements to pay off the debt, a tax must necessarily be levied. To claim that no such situation could arise, is to amaze further the judgment of tax payers who count costs, measure eventualities and think well of their city.

The Herald would in no way seek to detract from the desire of the City Council members to serve well. These men give much time to the city and get little or nothing back. The Herald only tries here to make a helpful suggestion by asking the question: "What Price Utilities?"

In the first place no need exists for municipal Light and Water Plants. We have good ones, both giving unsurpassed service with rates that are satisfactory and ever adjustable to greater economy. There is no room in Cameron, a city of 5000 souls, for a dual system of utilities. Two water and two light systems would be an impossibility. Neither could earn profits and the city would lose heavily in its adventure into a business it knows nothing about.

In the second place the amount asked for could under no circumstance give the city an adequate power system, nor could it guarantee uninterrupted service. Into the requirements for service, power companies have invested millions. Eventualities take these industries into vast expenditures to keep electricity, under all circumstances, at your finger tips. Power companies know their business and serve a peculiar field. Governments should confine themselves to the purposes for which they were instituted and should not engage in business to the exclusion of both the right of opportunity and labor.

If municipal plants could succeed in Cameron it would mean destruction to the properties of both the water and power companies to which vast sums were invited by the government itself in the (See WHAT PRICE UTILITIES on page 6)

Arrest Is Announced In Attempt Made On Life Rockdale Woman

O. J. Cunningham was arrested last week by Milam county officers as a suspect for shooting at Mrs. Floyd Horton on August 29 about one o'clock in the morning. Mrs. Horton is circulator for the Austin-American in the Rockdale territory.

Cunningham was first placed in jail here, but on last Friday was taken to Austin where efforts were made by his lawyer, Poke Shelton, to get him released by writ of habeas corpus, but this was denied, and his bond set at $3500.00. Sheriff Max Kennedy and Prosecuting Attorney were in Austin Friday at the hearing.

Mrs. Horton stated that the man who shot at her "had blond hair, which was cut short and stood up."

BURLINGTON CATHOLIC SCHOOL OPENS SEPT. 16

St. Michael's Catholic School will open in Burlington on September 16th.

The opening ceremonies will be featured by an address by Bishop C. E. Byrne of the Galveston Diocese. Father O'Sullivan, pastor, says the school is to open this fall for the first time in two years.

The Sisters of the Incarnate Word of Houston will be in charge of the school. Approximately 75 students have enrolled.

Monday morning at 9 the school will be opened with high mass. Many Clergymen of the Diocese are expected to be present.

YOEMEN GOING THROUGH PACE

Yoemen are being put through some fast paces looking to the general basic training for the season.

Coach Wood was not pointing to the Marlin game. He does not care much about this game, but would like to put over a touchdown or two to take the honors.

A fast smart team, light material, will be the 1935 edition. Next week the Herald will begin its annual publicity covering Yoemen and their coach.

Benefit for Cameron Band Friday Night

A benefit entertainment for the Cameron Band will be held Friday night at the Yoemen lighted field, it was announced here Monday by S. E. Brogdon, president of the Band Parents Association.

The entertainment will be a game between the married and unmarried women of Cameron, Mr. Brogdon announced.

An admission charge will be made and the proceeds will go to the benefit of the band. All citizens in Cameron are requested to attend and patronize this game for the good of the band.

The following is a tentative list of the personnel of the soft ball game participants for the band benefit entertainment on Friday night:

Beauty Specialist Dusek Pharmacy

A personal representative of Dorothy Perkins will be at the Dusek Pharmacy September 16 to 21 to explain this method of beauty care to customers of the store.

The service is complimentary and has been obtained at considerable expense by the store. Women in the trade territory are asked to make reservations.

Dr. Hill Gives City Big Thrill

Cameron was enjoying the experience of hearing Dr. P. B. Hill this week in a revival meeting at the Presbyterian church.

The revival will close Friday night. Subjects for Thursday and Friday are as follows: Thursday morning "The Return of the Lord." Thursday evening "The Uncertainties and Certainties of Religion." Friday morning "The Responsibility of the Home." Friday night "The Peril of Neglect."

Dr. Hill's life story will some day be written for the people of America. Many know him as Captain Hill of the Texas Rangers. He has an honorary captaincy and is the first and only Chaplain the famous state police ever had. It required a special act to give him this honor. His commission is signed by Governor Moody and the then Secretary of the State. Dr. Hill doesn't believe the present system will get the best results from Texas Rangers. He thinks the old type ranger is the best officer who ever buckled on shooting irons. He ought to know because he has been their pals for years.

Tuesday he spoke to the Lions Club. Tuesday night officers in Milam county were special guests at the church. He discussed crime and his subject was "Will America Survive?"

Dr. Hill is not a professional evangelist. His personal charm and vast experience make him one of the most interesting men of his day. The opinion was universal that Cameron would benefit much from his visit which is being terminated much too soon.

Milam county is dry insofar as legal liquor is concerned.

A published news story from Austin Tuesday listing Milam as among a number of Texas counties partially or totally wet, is an error, it was ascertained from records here Wednesday when a correspondent of this newspaper asked clarification for the information of the public.

No Law Now

The situation is unusual. Prohibition is dead in Texas but under the terms of the recent amendment all dry territory under local option is protected. However, there is no law now existing under which violators may be prosecuted, it was pointed out by Criminal District Attorney Emory B. Camp.

Mr. Camp said that until the legislature which convenes on September 16 meets and provides a law under which the traffic is to be regulated there is no method by which it can be controlled.

Before liquor can be sold in Milam county legally an election will have to be held in the manner yet to be prescribed by the legislature at its coming session.

Milam Voted Dry

Milam county voted dry in a county wide local option poll in December 1917. On August 24 this year the county voted for repeal, but as stated under the terms of the amendment as submitted rigid protection is provided for all dry territory.

Stewart Grocery Offering Values

B. F. Stewart's grocery in Cameron is offering big values this week to food buyers. September days are sales days at this store where many shipments of new merchandise have been received.

An encouraging trend is the price quotations. Lower prices with greater values will feature this week end sale of goods.

Mr. Stewart was able to promise much during the next week at his store.

Green & Boedeker In Big Six Day Sale

A six day sale beginning Friday at the Green & Boedeker store in Cameron will continue to Friday September 20, it was announced by Leland Green in the Herald this week.

Several carloads of merchandise have been brought in for this sale. Prices have been lowered and fall trade advantages are being widely patronized at this store.

Miss Mollie Moore left last week for Dallas where she will visit her sister, Mrs. John Poteet, for an indefinite time.

TUBERCULAR TESTS FOR LOCAL CATTLE HERDS

Tubercular tests of cattle in Milam county, a federal government project in co-operation with the state, will begin on Monday of next week.

The work is being carried along under the Bureau of Animal Industry in Washington.

Dr. Hayes Here

Dr. R. H. Hays was in the City Tuesday and announced the campaign to begin Monday. One week from that date the total number of men will be 12 in the county. The campaign will last from 4 to 6 weeks, depending upon the number of cattle.

To Pay For Cattle

Cattle found to have tuberculosis will be condemned though paid for by the government. Cattle owners are asked to co-operate by having cattle in pens for the veterinarians.

Mr. Hayes who is the supervisor will have offices in the Court House.

Mrs. J. P. Harshey, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Pelatari and family, Roy Arbuckle, Bill Harshey, Albert Striznek, Howard Bower, all of Houston were among those that attended the wedding of Miss Betty Dobish to Francis Keister in this city this week.

Strange Spider Is Found By Bill Storey

Local and national publicity have been responsible for much attention being directed to the lowly spider.

Before a Black Widow bit a prominent member of the Film Colony in Hollywood folks went about their business in the usual way without a great deal to do about spiders.

It's different now. Here comes the strangest spider of them all. The body has the design of a skeleton or death's head similar to the Hussar head dress in the German army. The body is white and the legs are pink. The design may be said to resemble the face of a monkey also.

Bill Storey of the Southern Pacific Lines brought the spider to the Herald office and it may be seen here.

Misses Maurine and Isabel Messimer, who spent part of the summer here with their mother and aunt, Miss Leila Woolley, left Sunday for San Antonio where they will again teach school this fall.

Miss Gladys Messimer, after visiting her mother, Mrs. Wilna Ramsoner for several weeks, left for her home in Houston where she holds a position with a bank.

Roy Law who is working in Austin, spent the week end here with his family.

Tex Prohibition Dies

AUSTIN, Sept. 9.—Statewide prohibition ended in Texas today with issuance of a proclamation by Governor Allred declaring results of the Aug. 24 election. The official canvass showed constitutional prohibition was repealed 297,597 to 250,948.

Sale of intoxicating liquor became legal immediately on issuance of the proclamation in 12 counties and was legal in more political sub-divisions of 50 additional counties. Attorney General McGraw had ruled the repeal amendment would be operative when results of the election were proclaimed.

Wet counties of those in which sales are legal in one or more subdivisions according to records of the comptroller included: Falls, Llano, McLennan, Menard, Milam and Williamson.

Miss Henriem Hefley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hefley, leaves Friday for Georgetown to be present during "Rush Week" and will go from there to Austin where she will enter State University where she will be a Junior Student this fall.

Miss Patsy McGregor, daughter of Mrs. C. P. McGregor, will return to Austin and enter State University for her sophomore year.

Monroe Corbin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Newt Corbin of Cameron, suffered a sprained arm and broken wrist when he accidentally fell last week. Monroe has been cited for bravery for rescuing a 4 year old boy, Junior Copus, from drowning several weeks ago at Wilson-Ledbetter Park, and may receive a Carnegie medal.

FOR SALE—Two lots, each 55x105, just across from high school. Big trees. Corner $250; inside $200. Mrs. Morrison Chambers.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Green, Sr., and grandson, Leland the third, spent Sunday in Rosebud and Marlin. They visited Mrs. Green's mother, Mrs. J. P. Gott in Marlin.

Mrs. Jeff T. Kemp returned Wednesday from Washington where she spent two months visiting her daughter, Miss Ruth Kemp. While in the East she had the pleasure of using the library there for reading and research work. Together with her daughter she visited in Boston, Massachusetts and saw many interesting places. Miss Ruth is progressing nicely in her work for the government and is enjoying the many advantages of life in the National Capitol.

Mrs. John Dobbins has returned to her home in Carlsbad after a few days visit here in the home of her sister, Mrs. Jeff Kemp.

Not The Child's Fault

Just a few more days and school will open. If your child failed last year, don't be too severe in your criticism, till you know for sure if his eyes are functioning properly.

Should he need glasses and you fail to supply them, then the responsibility rests on your head and not on the child's. Have his eyes examined and if glasses are needed, he will be told so, and if glasses are not needed he will be told so.

Give your child a fair chance this year. You owe them that much. To fail in a grade means a year lost, besides, the embarrassment to the child and family.

Washington News For Milam County Farmers

From Cameron Herald's Washington Bureau

Amendments to the AAA cover a wide range and are entirely too long to be discussed in a column like this but because so many farmers are interested and because of approaching court tests of the Act and its amendments, the space this week is given over to short outlines of various sections of the amendments as enacted on August 24th.

It should be stated that while this summary has been taken from a release of the Department of Agriculture it is incomplete and does not attempt to give the full analysis of the revised law. To do so would require about a page in this newspaper.

In order are discussed the constitutionality of the measure, the question of Interstate Commerce, Parity Price, and the ever normal Granary:

1. Delegation of Authority.

a. In general, throughout the Act as amended, the Secretary of Agriculture is directed, not authorized, to investigate the facts and to put into effect certain specified corrective measures if the investigation shows that certain conditions exist. He may use his discretion only in making a choice, based on standards expressed in the Act, among the several corrective measures specified by Congress.

b. The conditions under which the corrective measures authorized (adjustment agreements, removal of surplus, expansion of markets, etc.) may be applied are:

(1) That prices are below fair exchange value, or are likely to be below during the period in which the production of the current or next marketing year is normally marketed.

(2) That such proposed corrective measure or measures would be practicable and effective in raising producer prices.

c. The corrective measures that may be used are:

(1) Adjustment in acreage or production, with rental or benefit payments.

(2) Payments for removal of surplus.

(3) Payments for expansion of domestic or foreign markets.

(4) payments for production under domestic allotment.

d. Funds equivalent to the proceeds of all processing taxes are appropriated by Congress for these payments, for the acquisition of commodities under the Ever-Normal Granary law, for administrative expenses, and for tax refunds.

e. The Secretary is directed not to initiate a program, and to discontinue an existing program at the end of the marketing year current at the time, when investigation shows that the conditions specified above do not hold true.

f. Rates of taxes, legal and administrative procedure in connection therewith, penalties for violations, legal procedure for redress, the terms which may be included in and, methods and procedure for marketing agreements and orders—these and other matters are set forth in detail b Congress in the amendments.

2. Interstate Commerce.

a. It is made clear through the amended Act that orders and marketing agreements can apply only to commodities and operations which are "in the current of inter-state or foreign commerce, or which directly burden, obstruct, or affect interstate or foreign commerce." This wording is in line with previous Court decisions.

b. In order to obtain uniformity in Federal and state programs, the Secretary is directed to confer with state authorities at their request, and authorized to cooperate with them, and to furnish them with information which, however, must be held confidential.

1. Parity Prices

The term "fair exchange value" expresses the relationships between the price of what a farmer sold and the price of what he bought in the base period. For all commodities except potatoes and tobacco, the base period is 1909-1914.

The purpose of the Act is to raise farm prices to this value. When a commodity reaches this level, its price is at parity.

The amendment adds another element to this conception of fair exchange value, namely the relation between the farmer's present mortgage-interest and land tax rates that prevailed in the base period, if that period is 1909-1914.

In effect, this means that these fixed shares are to be included in comparing farm costs today with those in the base period. This would affect parity prices and therefore tax rates but the amendments provide that existing tax rates need not be modified to take care of this factor.

4. Ever-Normal Granary

The ever-normal granary plan contemplates holding of reserve supplies of certain food, feed and fiber crops in storage on farms, to tide over periods of shortage, and protect both farmers and consumers from undue price fluctuations. In other words, it would enable the country to maintain a relatively even supply of these products from year to year.

The plan is incorporated in the farm program through these provisions:

a. The Secretary may acquire agricultural commodities pledged as security on government loans (conditioned upon compliance with an adjustment program) with funds made available under the Agricultural Adjustment Act.

b. With the producers consent, the Government may then turn possession of the product over to him in lieu of a cash benefit payment in connection with an adjustment program.

The farmer would then have a supply of crop on hand from the previous season, and would save the expense and labor of growing and harvesting it during the current season would take account of the reserve supply.

In the City the stop sign ordinances and all other traffic regulations will be enforced. I call your attention to the 45 degree angle parking law. Please follow this. Do not speed in the city limits.

All cars and trucks heretofore parked in the street center must go to the curb. Street center parking has been discontinued.

I am asking car and truck owners to help me reduce hazards. I give this notice because I do not wish to exercise my authority unless necessary, but traffic regulations must and will be enforced.

CITY MARSHAL, CAMERON.

There's lots of room in the FORD V-8

EVERY ONE who steps into the Ford V-8 for the first time is surprised at its roominess. There's exceptional seat room, leg room and head room in all body types — the whole car gives you a feeling of substantial size.

The Ford gives you extra body room because of the compact design of the V-8 engine — an exclusive Ford feature at a low price. This V-8 engine takes up less space in the hood and permits more of the car's length to be used for passenger comfort. Many a car selling at a higher price does not give you as much interior room as the Ford V-8.

Rear seats are wide and restful... three people can ride comfortably in the front seat of the Fordor Sedan, Fordor Touring Sedan, Convertible Sedan and Phaeton, and in the Coupes and Roadster. The seat of the Ford V-8 Roadster is 52 inches wide. A ride in the Ford V-8 will show that it combines unusual body room with fine-car performance, safety and comfort.

UNDER THE COURT HOUSE DOME

By Bernice Mc Lerran

Due to the fact that September term of Grand Jury turned into Court 35 bills of indictment, and all arrests have been made with the exception of one case, it is an unusual record. It shows the Sheriff's department and District Attorney Emory B. Camp have been alert and they are to be commended for their work.

The court house is an every day rendezvous for a number of men in their sixties and seventies. Swapping yarns and jesting is their favorite pastime. For something new they might organize into a recreation club, going in for boxing, baseball, croquet, checkers, dominoes, chess and bridge. Don't say it can't be done—it has been done in other places, and remember the maximum, "a man is as old as he feels."

While doing ambulance service following accidents, Bill Marek of the Coleman Furniture Company, solicits help from any and all peace officers of the city. He says that on several occasions while answering emergency calls to accidents, that cars running in front of him, too close behind him and blocking his path made it very difficult. Much stress is laid on traffic regulations when the fire whistle blows and during the fire. Why shouldn't as strict rules be stressed for an ambulance siren? Shouldn't a human life be valued as much as material things?

A few weeks ago, a number of Milam county citizens had to pay fines for wrong plates on their cars. Having a wrong license plate means cheating your county. These wrong plates may come from three sources: borrowing another man's license plate for your car; owning two cars and paying license for only one and using the one plate for both cars; or in buying of a second hand plate at a small sum from a wrecked or abandoned car. No doubt it is much cheaper and better for citizens to "shoot" square with his government, but what about the seller of the second hand plates from wrecked or abandoned cars. Should he get by?

"It seems that there is more interest in school affairs than ever before in this county," was the comment from the County School Superintendent's office last week. Each year, not only girls and boys, but men and women see the advantage of getting an education. No doubt that the relief situation has made a number "education conscious." Just examine a number of relief records and you will find that scores of them have only second or third grade schooling. This is the age where jobs must be created and it is going to take more than the pick and shovel man to create these jobs and more than the man with the grammar school education to fill them.

To Wise Merchants Only

The beginning of September brings to Cameron merchants the so-called "busy season" of the year. The question arises in the mind of every merchant, "How can I get more business?"

The merchant who asks himself this question is anxious to know the people who trade in Cameron. He is, if honest in his commercial habits, more anxious for the people to know him, his store, his trade habits and his square-dealing policy. He thinks now, as fall trade begins to grow in volume, how to make known to the public generally his attitude and his goods, which are backed by him.

During the summer months this merchant cut out his advertising, if he had used any, and saved a few dollars that a continuous campaign would have cost him. Now, he must attract the trade. He must have something to do it with. He is up against it. In his frame of mind he is an easy prey to all sorts of business getting schemes. He will spend his money on some glittering hope put into his granting of franchise. It is to this phase that we call your especial attention.

These two utilities now sought to be destroyed in Cameron, annually pay into the treasury of the city and county the sum of $9,472.07. That these amounts are both helpful and beneficial when others default in tax payments, may be easily verified. This sum computed over a period of 30 years, a suggested tenure of bonds, amounts to $284,162.10 or a fraction less than the basic cost of the proposed municipal plants. Counting both loan and grant, the city and county would be losing more than One Hundred Thousand Dollars in the deal.

This loss is small compared to the destruction of labor. These two plants in Cameron pay out in annual salaries and labor $17,515. Computing this sum over a period of 30 years the loss would be $525,450.00. If like amount of labor is involved in the administration of a city owned system, this sum would be paid out of the treasury and consequently endanger the earnings of the plants.

In the city alone these plants pay annually $4,837.50 in Taxes. Their salary and labor accounts of $17,515.00 are spent in Cameron, so that the combined benefits to the city alone is $22,352.50. Compute this over a 30 year period and the loss would be $670,575.00 or more than twice the amount allegedly involved in the cost of the proposed plants. These are direct benefits, better than government grants at the expense of the tax payers, because a healthy fact of rightly owned business.

Revenues from city owned plants over this period would naturally exceed these losses set out, if there was no competing systems. With competing systems, and of course there is sure to be such, it is doubtful if the earnings would equal the benefits now derived in taxes and salary and labor, from the privately owned systems.

These are plain facts. There are principles involved that transcend in importance to the average citizen, any financial consideration. It is wrong to destroy labor and capital with tax money. It is wrong to increase unemployment and to block legitimate private investments. The National Government will some day find itself face to face with the dire consequences of socialism and the people will reap accordingly.

As much as we would uphold the ancient philosophy of separation of church and state, let's be as vigilant in other capacities and keep government and private industry in their respective spheres of influence, each at the hearthstone of good old American principles.

susceptible mind by a slick-tongued salesman. He will perhaps, overlook the compelling force of a dignified sustained and honest advertising campaign in a paper like the Herald.

The editor of the Herald believes that advertising is a wonderful force in Cameron as well as in the larger cities. He believes that the Herald affords the cheapest, worthwhile medium with which to reach the scattered "general public." If he did not so believe he would not solicit advertising for his newspaper.

We feel sure that the Cameron merchant, who wisely executes a continuous and persistent advertising campaign in the Herald will secure unmistakable results. This campaign need not be expensive. It will fit the conditions of every business. It will broadcast, in print, to all who read the invitation of honest merchants, who seek trade upon the basis of service and a fair product for a fair price. Such wholesale dissemination of interesting business items will prove effective. We say this because we have seen it done. We have heard of its success in thousands of towns throughout the United States.

Possibility of Service

Although Congress has adjourned provisions were made during the past session for the conduct of fifteen principal investigations. After a few weeks of rest the members of these various committees will probably come back to Washington to undertake their additional labors. Some of these inquiries should be productive of considerable benefit to the American people.

The house has a committee to investigate the power lobby, while at the same time a Senate committee has an investigating group to pry into the activities of lobbyists, not only those of the power interests but all others as well. The Senate committee may be expected to go into the matter thoroughly.

Another Senate committee, which has been investigating the activities of munition manufacturers, will now extend their searches to include a complete inquiry into the activities of international bankers during the World War and immediately thereafter. If, as many claim, the entrance of the United States into the World War resulted largely from the huge investments made in the belief of the success of the Allies the activities of these financiers should be studied with a view of avoiding future dangers.

Another Senate committee, headed by Senator McAdoo of California, has been quietly looking into the administration of receivership and bankruptcy estates in the United States courts since 1933. Particular attention is being devoted to these fees allowed and appointments made by the courts and to gathering other information necessary to frame remedial legislation.

An investigation somewhat similar to the foregoing, having for its aim the protection of creditors, is being conducted by a House committee into the operation of protective committees, corporate reorganizations affecting bond holders, and the like. There can be no doubt that scattered and separated investors have been improperly represented by many committees set up ostensibly to conserve their interests although in reality acting to facilitate the debtor avoiding the payment of a large part of the indebtedness.

Another House investigation, which has not attracted much public attention although interesting to Cameron retailers, is that being conducted into the operation of chain stores and their alleged lobby in Washington. Already this committee has brought to the attention of those who have followed its efforts the commercial practices which unduly favor chain stores and enable them to undersell competitors, thus assisting in the process of freezing out small merchants and retailers.

Big business, as a rule, objects to these legislative investigations, asserting that they produce unrest and disquiet to the detriment of business. However, almost anyone can see from a casual reading of the investigations above referred to that much good can be accomplished by them. If there are no evils the inquiries can do little harm, while if bad practices are being followed, it is a good thing to find them out and remedy them.

The Business Outlook in Milam County

What is the business trend insofar as Milam county is concerned?

This is a question that interests most readers of the Herald and one that brings forth many opinions, as individuals attempt to size up unknown factors and give reasons why times are going to be better or become worse.

The Herald has no monopoly on this game of expressing its views, although, perhaps, what it says is read by more people than the few who hear expressions fall from the lips of men who may know much more about it than we do.

Present indications are that the nation as a whole is to enjoy better business this fall than last year. Industrial activity is creeping higher, heavy goods are beginning to move, banks are crowded with idle funds and, to the point, perhaps, people are now beginning to gamble a bit in stocks.

These arrows that point to increase economic activity on a national scale may mean much to Milam county and then again they may mean very little. The prospect for agriculture, upon which the ultimate prosperity of the people of this county depends, is not too bright, although immeasurably better than it was some years ago.

The much sought "parity" for farmers is not yet attained. True prices of agricultural products are up, and in some cases almost to the parity level, but one must not lose sight of the fact that income parity will not be attained until these prices obtain for normal, and even bumper, yields. There was a day when the fall business of Cameron could be predicted upon the production of farmers around it. That day is no longer here, because the entire world has been grievously affected by nationalistic economic policies, with many quotas, restrictions, embargoes and exchange problems affecting world purchasing power.

For example, the export markets of American farmers have been heavily curtailed with the result that huge surpluses have piled up in this country dragging down prices until, a few years ago, farmers throughout this republic were virtually bankrupt, without a chance to pay their debts even in the face of good crop yields. Today, with production under some control and with prices thus upheld, the prospect is that farmers in Milam county will have some money to spend in the fall of 1935. They have taken care of some of their debts and while far from a position of security, probably will spend more money this year than for several years past.

Anyone who has studied the farm problem probably realizes that there is truth in the saying that the welfare of the American farmer depends upon the purchasing power of other nations. If they have money with which to buy our farm surpluses, then it will pay our farmers to grow great crops, but if, on the other hand, other nations shut their doors to our products, it will not pay American farmers to increase their yields. On a domestic basis our plantings must be curtailed and this means, inevitably, that farm income will suffer.

Sports Fans Follow The American Boy

Boys and young men of this city who wish to improve their tennis service, their basket shooting eyes, their forward passing talent, or their crawl stroke, can enlist the aid of the nation's foremost coaches and players by subscribing to the AMERICAN BOY magazine and following the sports interviews and fiction stories that appear each month.

"When I was in high school," says a famous decathlon champion, "I read a track article in THE AMERICAN BOY that gave me my first clear cut idea of the western style of high jumping. At practice I laid the open magazine on the grass and studied it as I worked out. That afternoon I increased the height of my jump three inches."

That was a long time ago, but today thousands of future champions just as eagerly follow THE AMERICAN BOY.

"This year," states Griffith Ogden Ellis, editor, "our staff writers have gone to the two greatest football teams of the country—Minnesota and Pittsburgh—for first-hand tips on strategy, blocking, tackling, passing and the fine points of the play. They have interviewed Jack Medina, the world's fastest swimmer, and his coach, Ray Daughters. Gone to Eastern High School of Washington, D. C., Eastern Interscholastic basketball champions. In the past they have followed the Grapefruit Circuit of the major leagues in Florida, sat on the bench at the Rose Bowl, sought out the famous runners, divers, All-American ends, tackles and backfield men, to bring their story of how to play the game to the young men of America.

"In addition to our fiction, adventure, exploration, hobby counsel, and vocational help, we shall continue to encourage young men to improve their game in every line of sport."

Miss Amboline Mode Married to Milton Lawless of Goose Creek In Home Wedding Tuesday

A pretty home wedding was solemnized Tuesday morning September 10th at ten o'clock at the home of L. Wilson when his granddaughter, Miss Amboline Mode became the bride of James Milton Lawless of Goose Creek and New York City. Rev. O. C. Acree, pastor of the Presbyterian church, Cameron, reading the impressive ring ceremony.

Decorations

The home was in pretty bridal attire where wenswreath, ferns and woodland greenery were used in beautiful bridal decoration. The mantel was banked with greenery, where the contracting parties stood and took their marriage vows. Miss Katherine Mode, cousin of the bride, gave the wedding march, and her sister, Miss Ruth Mode played the violin "O, Promise Me," accompanied by Miss Mode. Little Rosemary Luckett was ring bearer, dressed in dainty pink chiffon dress with pink accessories, and carried the ring on a pink velvet pillow, preceeding the bride to the improvised altar.

The Bride

Miss Mode is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Mode, was reared and educated in Cameron, leaving high school for San Marcos where she studied several years. She was handsomely attired in white chiffon velvet and wore a close fitting velvet hat with white accessories, and wore a corsage of pink and orchid asters. The dress was made on long close fitting lines with long sleeves trimmed with self covered buttons. She was a favorite with a large circle of friends here and at college.

The Groom

The bridegroom after completing high school at Goose Creek attended college and for the past few years has been employed by a large firm in New York City.

Following the wedding ceremony a reception was held and a beautiful wedding cake cut and served with punch.

The bride chose for her going away gown a black tailored suit with white accessories. After a few days honeymoon they will return to Cameron for a short visit before going to Goose Creek to visit his parents.

Out of town guests present at the wedding were Miss Geraldine Miles, Elmo Hazelwood of Goose Creek, Miss Ruby Reid of Rogers, Gilbert Tindall of Dallas.

The bride was recipient of many courtesies before the wedding and was showered with many beautiful and useful gifts.

Lady's Painful Trouble Helped By Cardui

Why do so many women take Cardui for the relief of functional pains at monthly times? The answer is that they want results such as Mrs. Herbert W. Hunt, of Hallsville, Texas, describes. She writes: "My health wasn't good. I suffered from cramping. My pain would be so intense it would nauseate me. I would just drag around, so sluggish and 'doleful.' My mother decided to give me Cardui. I began to mend. That tired, sluggish feeling was gone and the pain disappeared. I can't praise Cardui too highly because I know it helped me." ... If Cardui does not help YOU, consult a physician.

Farm Club Notes

SKITS FROM ACHIEVEMENT EVENTS

"I arranged my pantry shelves with the fruit and tomatoes on the top shelf, because they are acid, and will stand more heat than other products. The meat and non acid vegetables are placed on the bottom shelves which is the coolest portion of my pantry," Mrs. John Wimberly, Pantry Demonstrator for the Briary Club states.

"I received the landscape plan for my yard in November then we prepared our shrub beds for the plants. They were made four feet wide, and were dug to a depth of 18 inches. Fertilizer was worked into the beds as the soil was stirred. After a few weeks we planted the shrubs which included legustrums, abelias, photenias, arbar vitas, jasmines, privets, anemones, cecenas and lantanas. We purchased twenty-four foundation shrubs at the nursery at an expense of $4.85 and to date every shrub is living. The club ladies, too, brought me shrubs, for which I am grateful," states Mrs. Lewis Modesette, yard demonstrator for Duncan Club.

"I planned my garden for a family of eight which concluded with the planting of 24 different varieties of vegetables," states Mrs. I. O. Rolan, Pantry Demonstrator for the Grader Home Demonstrations.

"I already had a pressure cooker which has proven a good way to preserve our food, but I lacked adequate storage space. I spent ten cents for nails and gathered up all the scrap lumber. My husband built 6 shelves 7 feet long, 1 foot deep, and reached 8 feet high, with braces every thirty inches. I placed window shades in front for doors. 612 containers of fruit and vegetables have been added to this pantry, besides the canning of 250 quarts for non-club members," reports Mrs. Nolan.

"Well, can you think of anything so chagrin, than to not have any place in which to care for your clothes, or those of a visiting friend? This was my condition exactly, when I was made Wardrobe demonstrator for the Gardner Home Demonstration Club on April 13th," Irene Avrett states. "The only available space I had was an old hull of a closet, having no ceiling; no door (only a curtain) and a big leak which caused lots of water to run down the back wall in wet weather. So you see my clothes kept hanging across the corner of the room. Really this was more of just a storage place for rubbish, as it was not fit for anything else. In making my closet I used mostly spare time, also all materials that I could to cut down expenses. Old sheets were used for canvas and a roll of ceiling paper which had been left from ceiling another room was used for papering. The materials used, as nails, lumber and tacks cost only $5.10. To make sure of the closet being dust proof I first put a covering of cardboard on the rough walls. On top of this I tacked several layers of newspapers and next to the paper the sheet, which served as canvas. This made a nice, smooth wall to paper. Using light paper gives a much better effect. As a result of my work and small expense, I have a leakproof, dustproof and ratproof closet, approximately five and one half feet long by two and one half feet wide which is nice enough for anyone's clothes. It contains a long shelf, the length of the closet near the top for hat boxes, etc. Under this hangs the clothes rod. One end of the closet is made up of five shelves for hats, cosmetics, etc. On the floor, near the back wall of the closet sets a long shoe rack, which is large enough for all the family's footwear.

Other worthwhile work that has been done other than plain sewing, and canning is helping others with foundation patterns, making shoe racks, sleeve ironing boards, tailor's pads and bound button holes.

Louisa's Letter

WIVES WITHOUT HOLIDAYS SHOULD DEMAND THEM

Dear Louisa:

We cannot afford a maid and I do all my work excepting the laundry which a woman comes in for. I never get any recreation away from my children and my husband thinks I should be content to stay home with them all of the time. He goes to town several times a week, but if I ever go along I have to carry all of the children and really it is such an undertaking that I come home more tired than if I'd never gone. But if I stay home I never see anything—in fact I feel like a moss-back now from being out of touch with everything for such a long time. So what am I to do?

MRS. J. A. C.

Answer: My advice to you, Mrs. J. A. C., is to stiffen up your backbone and tell your husband you are tired of being a slave. If he had to hire a woman to do his cooking and care for the children, she would not only get some good cash money each week but she would also have her evenings and at least one afternoon off to do as she pleased. It certainly is as little as he can do to keep the children one afternoon a week while you go to town with a little cash. If he doesn't want to do that—and some men have a way of getting out of disagreeable jobs—he can hire a laundress, if she is dependable, and she can look after the children. The majority of men are selfish and if their wives demand nothing that is what they usually get.

Ten to one if your husband sees that you have some recreation he will be just as delighted with the change after he has made it, as you will be. You will feel better, look better, and be able to do more for your family, if you get away from them each week for a time and enjoy yourself. You will see what other people are wearing and it will help you plan for your children. It will give you a new outlook on life and you won't feel as if you are caught in a snare from which there is no release.

If there were some way of making men like your husband change places with you for just a short time it would not take long for them to decide that a diet of baby tending indefinitely was not the delightful holiday that they apparently think it is for their wives.

Yours,
LOUISA.

Welding

... the best way to make a perfect union of two pieces of metal is by welding them together.

... and the best way to get a more pleasing flavor and a better taste in a cigarette is by welding together the different types of tobacco ...

That is just what we do in making CHESTERFIELD Cigarettes—the three types of mild ripe home-grown tobaccos, that is tobaccos grown in this country, are welded together. Then they are welded with aromatic Turkish.

When these tobaccos are welded together you get a combined flavor which is entirely different from any one type of tobacco.

It is this welding of the right amounts of the right kind of tobaccos that makes CHESTERFIELD a milder and better-tasting cigarette.

McLEMORE MADE VICTIM
HOGAN LEAVES MAJORS
CRONIN ON SPOT

Follows the second and last edition of our "clean the board" campaign. They do say that Duke has the best material for an eleven in the South this fall. . . . Rival coaches are aware of this already, even two weeks before the season. . . . He tells the boxing writers that anything is okay as a monicker as long as satchel feet is not used. . . . Believe it or not, but for a long stretch this season the records show Wally Berger, of the Braves, to have batted in a greater percentage of his team's runs than any other slugger in the majors, including Hank Greenberg, who is commonly (or should we say uncommonly) setting the world afire with his RBI total. . . . Wally Berger for the Waver freres is the next deal on the fire, so they say. . . . It is claimed that Big and Little Poison have outlived their usefulness at Pittsburgh while a slugger of the Berger type is just what is needed to give the Bucs that added touch. . . . And did you know that Scotty Campbell, who led the N. Y. metropolitan district in the national amateur qualifying rounds had to force his way out of the hoosegow to get to the links in time to make the rounds? . . . He was thrown into the cooler for speeding, but you can bet your boots he wasn't in any too particular hurry to get to the course. . . . Coach Frank Thomas, of Alabama's eleven, used just a foreman defensive line at the Rose Bowl last year in contrast to the seven man line he was taught at Notre Dame.

Johnny Werts, who pitched good ball for the Braves a while back, is the big shot twirler of the textile league in South Carolina. . . . The league has sent many men into organized ball this season and last, but Johnny prefers to stick where he knows he will be successful. . . . Joe Louis puts all his dough in insurance policies. . . . Recently he added another one to the list. . . . It is an annuity which will bring him $100 a month income for life. . . . Diz Dean has a heart. . . . He cried when told of Will Roger's death several weeks ago. . . . The difference between Dizzy and Carl Hubbell is their own ideas of confidence is borne out in their respective statements. . . . Dean—"The reason the Cards win so many games is because they have me to win thirty games a season." . . . Hubbell—"The reason I win the games I do is that I have the Giants behind me." . . . There is reason to believe that Bucky Harris will become manager of the Braves next season in the event that George Marshall becomes the new owner. . . . Buddy Myer, his natural successor at Washington, would have to be persuaded muchly to take the job should Harris. . . . Buddy notices that since Joe Cronin turned to the life of a manager he has lost his rep as the league's outstanding shortstop. . . . Then there is Mickey Cochran, former best man in regard to the junior loop's catching ceremonies. . . . Mickey, since becoming manager, has watched Rollie Hemsley become the best catcher of the league.

A sure bet for a starting job in the third game of the World series if the Tigers win the first two is Lawson, brilliant rookie hurler, with the Cochranemen. . . . Howard Moss, pitcher and third basemen of the Gastonia American Legion Junior Baseball team, made six hits in his first six official trips to the plate in the final series with Sacramento. . . . Cy Blanton, wd are afraid, needs a larger size hat, or will at least, if he keeps on talking to writers in his present manner, such as, "I would have had a greater number of strikeouts in the International League had it not been for one thing. It wasn't the batters that bothered me; it was the umps. They couldn't follow my fast-breaking curves." . . . Apparently George Earnshaw has taken a new lease on life with the Dodgers. . . . The Brooklynites were severely handicapped when Van Mungo was out nearly for two months with a busted finger. . . . Commissioner Landis ruled over the heads of the club owners that Earl Mack, son of the A's head man, is within his rights in signing whomever he wants to to make that tour of Mexico at the end of the season. . . . However, he says that starting November 1 it will be up to the owners whether their hands play ball in the off season. . . . Babe Ruth still is paying to get into the Yanks Stadium, while the N. L. has presented him with a pass to their games.

When it was publicly announced that Joe Humphries was ill, Henry McLemore, United Press writer, was besieged with offers from hog-callers who felt that they were as good as Joe and could take his place easily. . . . Just why they should pick on Henry is left to your own judgment. . . . If Buddy Myer wears the American League batting crown this year, and there is still a chance he will, Uncle Clark Griffith will present him with a gold medal. . . . Buddy would rather have the cash. . . . The Southern boasts of two swell pitching prospects for American League clubs. . . . Lanning, of Knoxville, will be a regular with the Red Sox next year or we miss our guess. . . . Dick Lanahan, of Chattanooga, is already conceded a place with the Senators, who have little pitching anyway. . . . George Marshall apparently is after control of all Boston sports. . . . He already is the owner of the Boston Braves pro football team, and at this writing is still dickering for the Braves in the National League of baseball.

Marshall has always been a favorite among the football scribes since he took over the Braves' football eleven, for it has been his custom to continue the elaborate bar, which Tom Yawky has in Fenway Park's pressroom, throughout the home games in football season. . . . Back in the early twenties when Harry Heilman and his manager, Ty Cobb, were fighting it out tooth and nail for the American League batting crown, Ty ordered Harry the last day of the season to be on the batting end of hit and run plays, which meant that he had to swing at bad balls. . . . Heilman made four hits anyway and took the crown from his boss.

Shanty Hogan's appetite finally caught up with him. . . . He was dropped from the Braves either because he was too slow getting down to first or because he cost the club too much in meal tickets on the road. Either excuse is a good one. . . . He quickly hooked on with the Minneapolis Millers. . . . On May 1 Hogan was leading the major leagues in hitting with a healthy average of .448 or thereabouts. . . . Now wasn't there a lot of typewriter ribbon wasted six weeks ago when all the talk was of a subway series? . . . Also about the newest of baseball's great catchers, Jimmie Fox. . . . Records released back in August showed Jimmie to be leading the loop's first sackers with a fielding percentage of .999. . . . He had made but one error.

Although that one error wasn't the only one his records will show at the end of the season, he will end up the year at or near the top. . . . And he has always been a good third baseman. . . . Therefore Jimmie of Sudlersville must be the best all round baddy man in the majors. . . . Moo Berg has three times been signed by an American League team as a free agent, which must be some kind of a modern major league record. . . . Babe Ruth hit opening day home runs in 1915, 1918, 1919, 1923, 1924, 1929, 1931 and 1932. . . . On the 1921 opening day he had five for five including two doubles, and three singles. . . . Tom Paden of the Pirates, failed to make the varsity nine at Manhattan College.

Tom Yawkey says that if Joe Cronin brings Boston an American League pennant but one time in five years his contract calls for he will be repaid for the 250 grand he spent

Encampment of Methodist Young People Is Closed Here Tuesday for Marlin District

Thursday marked the closing of the Marlin district Young People's Christian Culture encampment, which began here on Monday at Wayside east of Cameron.

Mrs. A. C. Tucker of Marlin was district director of the encampment; Rev. N. H. Melbert of Marlin, dean of the encampment; Mrs. Walton Day of Mineva, dean of women; Rev. W. R. Willis of Thorndale, dean of men; Rev. J. Coy Williams of Cameron, host; Mrs. W. P. McCall, dietician.

in getting the manager. . . . In the annual football guide released this season Tom Oliver's 84 yard punt for Catholic U. against Western Maryland is recognized as an all-time mark. . . . The ball bounded six more yards after hitting the ground. . . . Julius Solters is making Joe Cronin regret more every day the trade that sent him to the Browns. . . . Corky Cornelius, former Duke grid star, has signed with the New York Giants pro gridsters. . . . Left hand hitters have led the Southern Association batters since 1926. . . . Buddy Baer looked good in licking Jack Doyle. . . . Because of injuries to their three regular catchers, the Nats recently had to employ Bill Star of the NYPA loop, to do all the work behind the plate. . . . The citizens of Gastonia were smart in bidding so heavily, and successfully, for their city as the site of this year's American Legion junior finals. . . . They knew they were to have a good team this year, and the idea worked out more than successfully. . . . Wally Moses, soon after we picked him as the year's outstanding rookie in spite of his injury which put him out for the last part of the season, was selected the year's best newcomer in the A. P. poll. . . . Vernon Kennedy's no hit game was the American League's first since Bobby Burke turned the trick in 1931 against the Red Sox. . . . Paul Dean turned the trick last year in the senior loop.

Cotton Questions Answered by Agent

So many questions are being asked about the adjusted payments on 1935 cotton—the so called 10c loan—says County Agent J. C. Patteson of McLennan County that he explains the situation fully below.

The information, he says, is official, coming from the state cotton board at College Station. He has had copies of it mimeographed and sent to banks and gins so that cotton producers and handlers can get their information straight.

How the Plan Works

"Any producer," he explains, "under a cotton adjustment contract who sells his 1935 cotton crop before Aug. 1, 1936, and agrees to participate in the cotton adjustment program next year is entitled to the adjustment payment, or what is commonly known as subsidy. The producer who did not sign a contract is also eligible to make claim for subsidy. He will, of course, agree to participate in the 1936 cotton adjustment program, and will be paid when his compliance has been certified. The producer who made the 1935 Bankhead application or his successor in interest will make application. The subsidy will be the difference between the average of the ten spot markets on the date of sale and 12c middling basis. Maximum payment, however, cannot be more than 2c. The total pounds subject to subsidy is the amount of each producer's Bankhead allotment.

"It is expected that checks will be delivered to producers approximately December 15, 1935, and March 15, and August 15, 1936, depending on the date of the application is signed. It is proposed that a disbursing section will be set up in Texas, thereby saving much time."

Cotton Sale Certificates

Many producers and buyers are interested in proper procedure and information is given on what is known as cotton sale certificate, to be made out in triplicate and delivered to the county agent's office. The information requires the name of the purchaser with address and date, and the name of the producer and his address. The following eight items are required:

1. Bales of cotton.
2. Cross weight, including bagging and ties.
3. Amount of seed cotton purchased.

4. Seed cotton expressed in pounds of lint.
5. Price per pound paid producer.
6. Total value of cotton.
7. Less charge, if any.
8. Amount paid producer, followed by the signature of the producer.

Items 3 and 4 are to be used only where cotton is sold in the seed.

Items 5, 6, 7 and 8 may or may not be filled out. Any intentional misrepresentation of facts made in these certificates for the purpose of defrauding the government will be subject to United States code.

Forms are being printed now, to be available soon for distribution from the state cotton board to the county agent, who will be in charge of the program.

Jesse James Goes To Austin For Session Of Many Problems

Representative Jesse James left Cameron Wednesday for Austin to make preparation for the special session to meet on September 16.

Mr. James is a member of the committee on Revenue and Taxation in the House and says the Legislature is faced with a severe problem to raise money for old age pensions. He believes that around 30 million dollars will be required to pay the annual bill. He is against a sales tax. He favors a tax on industry and natural resources in some form yet to be worked out.

All people whose incomes are below certain brackets will be entitled to the pension if the problem is worked out as Mr. James sees it.

Mr. and Mrs. Nat H. Butts have returned from Long Beach, California, where they attended the funeral of their daughter, Mrs. C. E. Kenyon who died there a few days ago. They report that they missed a flood at Yuma, Arizona, just a few hours. It had been five years since rain had fallen in that territory. They were routed back around by Fort Worth, as ten bridges had been washed out on the track of the railroad they went out to California on.

For your Health's sake . . .
HEAT
Your ENTIRE House

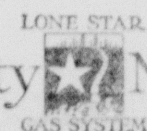

If you are susceptible to colds, and most people have from two to three each winter, you owe it to your health to heat your home adequately as a protection against sudden changes in temperature which are a contributory cause of colds.

With the entire house properly heated and ventilated, you have greater comfort and the satisfaction of knowing that you are taking the precaution of guarding your family's health.

One single illness to a member of your family will cost you far more in money and suffering than the few dollars you will spend for adequate heat to combat winter colds. So look over your heating equipment now. Some might need repairing. Some might need replacing altogether with modern equipment. Whatever it takes, do it now, for August is the opportune time to buy advantageously modern gas heating equipment. For your health's sake, heat your entire home.

DR. M. C. SAPP

Dr. Monroe C. Sapp was born in the State of Alabama in the year 1864. He died suddenly at 2:30 p. m. Monday, August 5, 1935 in his office, at the age of 71 years.

For more than forty years Dr. Sapp had been a resident of Cameron and Milam county. In association with the late Dr. J. C. Reese, he engaged in the drug business, later entering the practice of medicine and in his profession he succeeded far beyond the average physician of his day and generation.

His remarkable life of 71 years spanned a crowded and historic period in American history. Born of Southern parentage in one of the Confederate States, he knew as a child, the issues that influenced the course of events, and in him to a marked degree, there survived through the progressive stages of development, the unmistakable traits of character that distinguish men who comprehend the true philosophy of life and who draw from the source of their native soils, the glory of great strength.

Thus to the struggling village of Cameron along about 1895 came the handsome Alabamian to cast his fortunes and enter deeply into the common task of building a community that some day would reflect the character of the men who made it. Supreme in his consideration were thoughts of civilization. The money men earn was secondary with him. His was a life of service. In the adventurous, compelling days of the nineties he began his life work, later to comprehend in its philosophy the engaging inspiration of strong friendships and the treasury of great sacrifice from which should spring in the beauty of adoration, the flowers of human affection, and opportunities abounding for the good investment of as fine talents and intelligence as ever mortal man inherited from his Maker.

In the course of his life work, that of a physician, he found a place of service accorded few men. Possessed of great strength of character and a spirit adapted to friendship he brought to his life the fullest measure of compensation. He lived in an atmosphere of service to others, thus fulfilling the Divine mission for men. As Cameron grew, his immeasurable spirit of service grew, so that when the sun of promise that had lighted his pathway down the pioneering years reached the meridian, he shared with his fellows the fruits of honor and became unselfishly the heir to great public esteem.

Men's lives of to-day become Talmuds of the race to-morrow. The gauge by which we measure human values is sometimes so overwhelmingly inspiring we are lost in the process of estimation. We who grope through the shadows in search of the beam of light, find great solace in the beacons that flame the heavens when the night is dark. When the sun watheth at noonday the traveler who finds the shade inherits something of the sacrifice of those who built the shelters against the day of great need. Without the example of such men who die, honored among us, the race would soon find its course uncharted and the way a dismal journey to disaster.

In an hour of serving the summons came. From whence and to what men may disagree, yet none would challenge belief that in the economy of Wisdom's own plan, that they who live and serve as did he, find a place of hallowed reward. At 2:30 in the afternoon of August 5, 1935 he came to the end of arduous years. His last act was that of service. In a last measure of devotion to the profession that claimed his youthful strength and mature years, there ended the trail that leads back to an Alabama farm house, and along the way are shrines of recollection, good remembrances of great deeds, sacrifices that are heroic and a great love for his family and friends, that all will cherish in the years to come.

In his early years he married Miss Kate Wolf and to them was born a son, Pope Sapp, who died 3 years before his father's death. Love for son was a great passion in his life. The tragedy of his death fell heavily upon the aging physician, but great courage and the help of his dear wife and daughter, Miss Imogene Sapp, who came to fill his life with tenderness, gave him encouragement and when life's burdens seemed too heavy to bear he took his grief into the mission of service to others.

Dr. Sapp was a man of deep religious beliefs. In faith alignment he was a Baptist. In practice of faith he was the inspiration of all believers because they saw in him the translation of higher concepts and the mellow influence of a life that radiated the spirit of Him who became the Great Physician, healing both the sick and the dispirited.

Testimony of great esteem came from his fellow physicians. In the cradle of great floral charm, in the moist eyes of thousands who went with the body to the soil that now holds his tenement of clay against the day when upon the foundation he laid shall rear a shining monument of great sufficiency, was mirrored grief genuine. A friend is dead. A great doctor can no longer prescribe, yet we who knew him best will draw heavily in the years to come upon the inspiration left by his example of living. In the forest dense, as time marches on, a monarch must fall, to leave a lonesome place against the sky.
